These words were used to describe the doilies that were published in the 1930s and 1940s using Clark’s O.N.T. and J. & P. Coats threads (forerunners of today’s Aunt Lydia’s crochet thread). Our parent company, Coats & Clark has a long-standing tradition in crochet thread designs, adding designs with the Aunt Lydia’s brand in the 1990s.

These words are just as true in describing today’s twenty-first century doilies. Modern crocheters display doilies on tables and other furniture pieces. We also use them as coasters, earrings, appliqués and framed wall art.

Red Heart is thrilled to continue the tradition of charming doilies using our crochet threads and offer these modern designs to you. Each pattern can be downloaded from the redheart.com website using the pattern links in this look book.
